Supervised by Dr. Peter Bell

Focusing on end-to-end Automatic Speech Recognition

Master Research at Tsinghua University

September 2017 - August 2020

Master Student, Department of Electronic Engineering

Supervised by Dr. Wei-Qiang Zhang

Automatic Speech Recognition (ASR), Keyword Search (KWS) and Sequence Modelling

Mainly focused on end-to-end ASR and KWS for low resource languages

OpenSAT19 Competition

April 2019 - August 2019

Core Member

Introduction: OpenSAT19 hosted by NIST is a competition which consists of three parts, including ASR, KWS and SAD (Speech Activity Detection). Each part contains 3 tasks so there are tasks in total. We attended 5 tasks, three in SAD, one in KWS and one in ASR.

Contribution: I was a core member of our team and developed KWS systems for Pashto language, a low resource language.

Result: We won two 1st prizes, two 2nd prizes and one 3rd prize. Particularly, we won the 2nd prize in KWS task, where I was the main contributor.
